NCR Voyix is at the forefront with innovative software and services as retailers continue to explore various self-checkout modalities, including mobile applications, smart carts, hybrid systems, and tablets. This evolution in checkout technology highlights the importance of our adaptable platform that caters to this dynamic market.

"Retailers are rapidly diversifying their checkout experiences to meet consumer demands for efficiency and convenience. In response to this trend, NCR Voyix is committed to enhancing retail operations through our comprehensive suite of software and services. Our cloud-based commerce platform is designed to evolve, providing seamless integration and management capabilities," said Eric Schoch, executive vice president and president, NCR Voyix Retail. "Our focus on software innovation allows us to offer scalable solutions that improve both customer and associate experiences."

RBR Data Services found that an increasingly wide range of retailers are adopting SCO technology, from specialty to convenience stores. The NCR Voyix SCO solution helps businesses move quickly to address a challenging labor market, analyze shifting consumer trends and provide consumers with choice of how and where they go through the checkout experience.
