NCR CFO to Depart Company in May

DAYTON, Ohio – NCR Corporation (NYSE: NCR) today announced that Peter Bocian, chief financial officer (CFO), will resign from NCR, effective May 11, to accept a position with broader responsibilities at Starbucks Coffee Company (NASDAQ: SBUX). Bocian will continue as NCR CFO until after the company completes its 2007 first-quarter earnings announcement and Form 10Q filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

Bocian, 52, has served as NCR's CFO since 2004 and has been with NCR in a variety of financial and administrative positions for 24 years.

"Pete has been a key member of our executive management team, providing sound financial leadership and business counsel," said Bill Nuti, NCR president and chief executive officer. "We thank Pete for his many contributions to NCR's success and wish him well at Starbucks."

"The CFO search we initiated in conjunction with the upcoming strategic separation of Teradata from NCR has been expanded to include the position for both companies, and interest has been excellent. With the exception of the CFO, the management teams of NCR and Teradata are largely in place for the spin off of Teradata from NCR, which is expected to be completed in the third quarter of 2007," Nuti added.

"In my role as CFO, I've had the opportunity to help position NCR for this next exciting stage in our evolution," said Bocian. "I fully support the board's decision to strategically separate Teradata from NCR, as improving financial results and strong market leadership should enable each company to successfully execute its growth and business strategies. I'm confident that NCR and Teradata are executing the right strategies to expand their leadership positions in self-service technologies and enterprise data warehousing and wish them both success following the separation."

"I am also very proud of the strong financial teams and internal leaders we have developed in both NCR and Teradata, which will serve the respective companies well during, and after, the strategic separation of the businesses," Bocian added.

The company expects to file a Form 10 with the SEC pertaining to the proposed spin off of the Teradata Data Warehousing business in the second quarter of 2007.

In addition, the company announced that it will provide its 2007 first-quarter results on April 26, 2007.
